OLD A. AND M. BOYS COMING BACK

The "Home Coming" During Commencement Will Bring Many Former Students.

Members of the first graduating class at the A. & M. College, that is, the first men to receive degrees, will return to their Alma Mater June 11-12, to make merry at the fortieth annual commencement exercises and home-coming ceremonies. Members of the class of '79 and '80, who received certificates but not degrees, also will be back on the campus during these days.

Dr. J. M. Buford, '82, of Independence; Aaron Talbert, '82, of Calvert; James Craven, '82, of Houston; T. B. McQueen of Marlin, R. B. Pennington of Brenham, F. C. Von Rosenberg of Austin and B. Knolle of Industry, are members of the class of '84 who are planning to return. W. Wiprecht, business manager, a member of the class of '82, and N. M. McGinnis, college alumni secretary, say that every class will be represented by a number of members, while some of the later day classes probably will be represented by every member living in America.

The days of '82, and from that day on down, will be lived over again. Competitive drills between the various classes, and between individuals will be staged for the delectation of alumni and former captains and other commissioned officers will assume charge of their companies.

The institution will belong to the "old guard" during the fortieth commencement and all of the plans for the commencement exercises are being centered around the pleasures of the alumni who will return.

Plans for the college parade are being pushed and a splendid parade is promised. Every employee of the College will participate in this event and the various departments will be represented by floats which will be typical of the work of the respective divisions.
